FDA cautions public vs. use of unauthorized Covid-19 vaccines

MANILA – The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) on Monday reminded the public to take extreme caution on the purchase and use of vaccines claiming to be safe and effective against the coronavirus disease 2019 (Covid-19).

In a statement, FDA Director General Eric Domingo reiterated the reminder following reports that certain individuals have received Covid-19 vaccine shots.

"As of date, the FDA has not issued any Emergency Use Authorization to any vaccine for Covid-19. Without the proper authorization, there is no guarantee on the safety, quality and

Metro Manila, 9 others areas remain under GCQ until Jan. 31

MANILA – President Rodrigo Duterte on Monday night announced that Metro Manila and nine other areas in the country will remain under general community quarantine (GCQ) status until January 31, 2021.

In a taped public address, Duterte said the provinces of Batangas, Isabela, Lanao del Sur, Davao del Norte, and cities of Santiago, Iloilo, Tacloban, Iligan, and Davao will also remain under GCQ until the end of January.

The rest of the country will also remain under the least restrictive modified general community quarantine (MGCQ), he added.

Duterte, however, said these community quarantine classifications are subject to appeal from their respective local government units (LGUs).

Duterte also reminded the public not to leave their homes unless absolutely necessary.

"Stay home if it's really possible. It's for your own good," he said.

He earlier urged the public to skip Christmas festivities, especially large gatherings to avoid catching or spreading the disease.

As of Monday, health authorities logged a total of 470,650 confirmed Covid-19 cases, of which 22,746 or 4.8 percent are active cases.

A total of 104 patients recovered from the illness, raising the recoveries to 438,780 while 15 new fatalities brought the country's death toll up to 9,124.

2020: Containing Covid-19, mitigating impacts

MANILA – In response to a fast-spreading novel coronavirus early this year, the government has ramped up efforts to mitigate the impact of the public health crisis.

The Inter-Agency Task Force for the Management of Emerging Infectious Diseases (IATF) and the National Task Force against Covid-19 (NTF) have adopted a "carrier-centric" approach to contain the spread of Covid-19.

The government has implemented complementary strategies that include detecting, isolating, and treating confirmed Covid-19 cases.

Individuals who were already affected by the dreaded virus and those potential Covid-19 carriers were isolated away from their community.

The government conducted massive testing of persons under monitoring (PUMs) and patients under investigation (PUIs) for Covid-19.

Various establishments in Metro Manila and other parts of the country were converted into quarantine facilities to isolate individuals showing Covid-19 symptoms.

NAP Phase 1

Sec. Carlito Galvez Jr., National Policy chief implementer, introduced the National Action Plan and other efforts to mitigate the spread of the Covid-19.

According to Galvez, NAP's overall goal is to eliminate the threat of the Covid-19 in order to protect people from the risks of infections as well as to mitigate the social, economic, and security impacts of the health crisis.

The government has applied the Prevent, Detect, Isolate, Treat, Reintegrate (PDITR) strategy in a bid to "adapt to the new normal."

The PDITR strategy was implemented through the operational concept of the end-to-end 'treat-trace-treat' (T3) management system.

The T3 program also targets to ramp up testing capacity to 30,000 tests per day by putting up more swabbing centers and laboratory testing centers in strategic parts of the country.

The government has intensified its national communication campaign to combat the pandemic which includes regular handwashing, keeping physical distancing as well as wearing of face masks and face shields.

The government has imposed localized lockdowns to further prevent the transmission of the dreaded disease within local communities while trying to balance economic activities and health objectives of the country.

It has also strengthened contact tracing and testing capacity, in order to immediately detect more confirmed cases and provide them the treatment that they needed.

NAP Phase 2

In June, the government implemented the second phase of the national action plan

(NAP) that focused on "saving lives and mitigating Covid-19 impact toward economic and social recovery."

"For the national action plan, we will still follow our national strategy on preventing, detect, isolate, treat and reintegrate," Galvez earlier said in a virtual press briefing.

"The strategy design of the second phase concentrates on the five strategic objectives wherein to contain and manage the emerging new cases, sustain the gains that we had, and learn from the best practices and continue to [capacitating] and building resiliency to our hospitals," he added.

The task force has also adopted a national-government-enabled, LGU-led, and people-centered response to the Covid-19 health crisis.

Galvez cited the importance of prevention and self-awareness against Covid-19.

"Also we have to rebalance the health and economic objectives using the (hammer and dance) theory, localizing our response by leaving our LGUs (local government units) to the (front-line) with people's support and vigilance," he said.

The second phase of the NAP was implemented through localized lockdowns, massive information dissemination, stricter enforcement of the quarantine protocols, and minimum health standards.

NAP Phase 3

The third phase of the national action plan (NAP) against Covid-

Emerging Infectious Diseases (IATF-EID) is presently discussing efforts to prevent the entry of a new strain of coronavirus that emerged in the United Kingdom (UK).

19 was implemented through balancing health and economic recovery, according to Galvez.

He said there will be no more trade-offs during the implementation of the NAP Phase 3.

"The NAP Phase 3 will be our transition plan to the new normal from the last quarter of this year rolling down the road towards the first quarter of 2021," he said.

Galvez said NAP phase 3 is anchored on effective health risk management wherein gradual easing of restrictions could be imposed.

"We should learn to live with the virus until the vaccine is available," he said.

There is a need to further strengthen the key areas of prevention and containment approach including the government's Prevent-Detect-Isolate-Treat-Reintegrate (PDITR) strategy, Galvez added.

The government continues to expand its Oplan Kalinga program, a "no home quarantine policy" that restricts infected individuals to undergo home quarantine for treatment.

"The NAP Phase 3 will help us transition to the new normal. This will provide us the necessary strategic systems and mechanisms that will enable us to jumpstart our economy, and at the same time, to continue to lower active cases until the vaccine is available," said Galvez.

The government has intensified the whole-of-government strategy and the whole-of-nation approach to further contain the Covid-19 pandemic in the country.

Fighting the surge

Authorities have already warned of a surge of Covid-19 cases after the holiday season.

Sec. Vince Dizon, NTF Covid-19 deputy chief implementer, assured that the country has enough isolation centers and quarantine facilities for Covid-19 patients if ever the spike of cases may happen after holidays.

Dizon, also the country's testing czar, said the government along with its private partners, is non-stop in building more quarantine facilities to isolate more Covid-19 patients.

Dizon said the government's Prevent-Detect-Isolate-Treat-Reintegrate (PDITR) strategy provided a significant drop in the number of Covid-19 cases in the middle of July and August.

The government urged the public to continue adhering to the minimum health standards including wearing of face mask and face shield, regular hand washing, as well as observing physical distancing. (PNA) efficacy of said vaccine as the same has not undergone the required technical evaluation by the FDA," Domingo said.

The agency also stressed that manufacture, importation, sale, offering for sale, distribution, transfer, non-consumer use, promotion, advertisement, or sponsorship of any unauthorized vaccine is prohibited.

In coordination with other agencies, the FDA will take appropriate regulatory action involving any unauthorized vaccines and concentrate on ensuring that only vaccines which passed the standards will be made available to the public.

"Rest assured the FDA is observing utmost diligence in the regulation of vaccines. Vaccines will only be approved if there is reasonable scientific evidence to show that benefit outweighs risk," Domingo said. (PNA)

Fitch Solutions revises '20, '21 average PH peso forecasts

MANILA – Fitch Solutions revised its average 2020-2021 Philippine peso forecasts as the unit continues to outperform in the region but a possible weakening is projected in the long-term partly on current account improvement reversal.

In a report dated Dec. 23, the unit of Fitch Group’s new 2020 peso forecast is PHP49.60 while it is PHP47.50 for 2021.

For 2022, the projection is an average of 50.00 to a greenback.

Previously, the 2020 forecast was PHP49.75 while the 2021 forecast was PHP50.1.

“We believe the tailwinds that have driven the unit through 2020 will continue into 2021 and rising foreign interest would bolster further the unit,” the report said.

It said the local currency has improved by around 5.3 percent to a US dollar to date, higher than the 3.6 percent for the Asian dollar index.

It traced this performance to the weak domestic import demand, the strong external fundamentals upside from inflows from overseas Filipino workers (OFWs), and the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas’ (BSP) policies to address volatility of the currency.

“We believe these factors will broadly continue over the near term and will be aided by further dollar depreciation,” the report said.

Another plus for the local unit is the “higher risk appetite amongst investors focusing on low external financing and fiscal risks,” it added.

The peso’s low volatility, along with strong external financing fundamentals, are also seen as advantages for the local unit compared to other emerging market currencies.

These are deemed among the results of the central bank’s foreign exchange interventions, rising issuances, and projected easier policy stance, with the key policy rates expected to remain at its current level until late next year.

“Indeed, part of expectation for the BSP to keep its key policy rate on hold until late 2021 is that it will seek to maintain a negative real rate to dissuade appreciatory pressures on the peso,” it added.

However, Fitch Solutions forecasts a 25 basis points hike in the central bank’s key rates in the last quarter of next year in line with projections that inflation rate will average at 3 percent next year.

“As such, the real policy rate will weaken the attractiveness of the unit,” it said.

Similarly, continued accumulation of the US dollar is expected to limit the peso’s appreciation but the report said the country’s strong external financing fundamentals “mean that a sharp depreciation of the unit remains unlikely.”

“As such, we forecast the unit to depreciate to an average of PHP50/USD through 2022,” it added. (PNA)

PNP 'red teams' to check compliance with health protocols

MANILA – The Philippine National Police (PNP) announced that it will be deploying so-called "red teams" in malls and other business establishments to ensure compliance with the coronavirus disease 2019 (Covid-19) health protocols.

“The purpose of (Red Teams are) to validate ‘yung situations in their respective area of operations. Vina-validate nila 'yung deployment ng mga tao, at tinitignan din nila kung saan sila pwede tumulong at i-advise 'yung ating mga (They validate the deployment of police officers, they check on where they can provide assistance and give advice to our) chiefs of police at different unit commanders as to where they should deploy their respective resources,” said PNP Directorate for Operations chief, Major Gen. Alfred Corpuz, in a briefing Monday.

He added that "red teams" should check the availability of foot baths, hand sanitizers, and body temperature scanners in all entry points; entrance and exits should be separated, and signages to remind the public of mandatory wearing of face mask and face shield should be posted in conspicuous areas.

Corpus said there should also be no free Wi-Fi and aircon temperature should be at 26 degrees Celsius in malls to discourage people from loitering.

He added that they will also utilize local government units in augmenting their efforts.

This came as the government appealed to people to observe safety and health protocols to curb a spike in Covid-19 cases during the holiday season.

Meanwhile, PNP deputy chief for administration, Lt. Gen. Guillermo Eleazar, on Tuesday said they are eyeing to conduct coronavirus disease 2019 (Covid-19) testing for all police personnel assigned in Metro Manila.

He added that Metro Manila will be prioritized as it is the epicenter of the pandemic and most of the molecular laboratories are located here.

At present, around 65 percent of all police officers in PNP headquarters were tested for Covid-19.

The PNP is now conducting aggressive testing, said Eleazar, who is also the concurrent commander of the Administrative Support for Covid-19 Task Force (ASCOTF).

Around 38,000 tests have been conducted for cops in the region, he added.

The molecular laboratory in Camp Crame has also increased its daily testing capacity to 300, from only 100.

Meanwhile, Covid-19 tests conducted for personnel in National Support Units (NSUs) are at 66 percent and while tests in Police Regional Offices (PROs) are at 27.9 percent. (PNA)

New virus variant: Japan bans entry of foreigners

ANKARA – Japan on Monday suspended new entries of non-resident foreign nationals from “most of the world” as a precaution against a new variant of the coronavirus.

The country has already reported eight cases of the new strain of the virus which was first reported in the UK.

Ban on entry into the country by non-resident foreign nationals will continue until the end of January, NHK News reported.

Scientific analysis has shown the new strain of the infection spreads 70 percent faster than the earlier one.

Prime Minister Suga Yoshihide said the new measure on travel of foreigners was “a proactive measure to protect the people of Japan.”

Urging people to spend a quiet New Year's holiday, Suga asked people “to be sure to do such things as wash their hands and wear masks.”

More than 655K new cases of Covid-19 worldwide: WHO

GENEVA – More than 655,000 new confirmed cases of novel coronavirus have been recorded globally in the past day, pushing a total number of infections to 78.19 million, the World Health Organization (WHO) said in its daily bulletin on Friday.

Based on WHO updates, the coronavirus-related deaths increased by over 11,500 to exceed 1.73 million.

As of 18:54 Moscow time on December 25, as many as 78,194,947 coronavirus disease 2019 (Covid-19) cases and 1,736,752 coronavirus-related deaths were registered conditions, Japanese citizens and foreigners with Japanese resident permits returning from the countries where the new variant has been detected are asked to submit a negative virus test result within 72 hours of departure and also undergo a test upon arrival as of Wednesday through the end of January.

At least 20 countries have reported the new virus strain.

However, Japanese authorities said the new rules do not apply to those ten Asian nations with which Tokyo has agreed to a special scheme to ease travel restrictions. China, South Korea are among those nations.

Japan is witnessing record spike in new infections with 3,881 more coronavirus cases reported on Saturday.

The country has so far reported a total of 223,000 cases, including 3,213 deaths due to the Covid-19. (Anadolu) across the globe. The number of confirmed cases grew by 655,041 in the past 24 hours and the number of fatalities increased by 11,564.

The WHO statistics were based only on officially confirmed data provided by countries.

South and North America account for more than 49 percent of new Covid-19 cases submitted to the WHO in the past 24 hours (323,507). Europe was second (245,610 cases), followed by South East Asia (33,084).

Most Covid-19 cases were recorded in the United States (18,311,405), followed by India (10,146,845),

Only Pfizer's Covid-19 vaccine has applied for EUA: FDA

MANILA – Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Director General Eric Domingo said Tuesday the only application for Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) it has received so far was for the Pfizer's vaccine for the coronavirus disease 2019 (Covid-19).

"This (application) was submitted to us late in the afternoon of December 23. This was submitted online to the FDA and we have downloaded their submissions yesterday, and have distributed them to the reviewers and regulators," Domingo said in an online media briefing.

He said the evaluation, which he hopes to be completed within two weeks, would focus on both the regulatory side for the quality of the vaccine and the clinical trial for its efficacy and safety.

"Of course, that doesn't include the possibility that we'll still be requesting documents for their application. But as far as I can see, almost all our requirements are included in their submission. We just have to go through it," Domingo said, adding that other vaccine manufacturers could be ready for their EUA application by January 2021.

He said the FDA

Brazil (7,365,517), Russia (2,992,706), France (2,484,875), the UK (2,188,591), Italy (2,009,317), Spain (1,854,951), Germany has already received three applications for the vaccine clinical trials to be held in the country.

"Yesterday, we already approved one and this is the clinical trial of Janssen (of Johnson & Johnson). This has been given the go signal by FDA and maybe, they will already start with the clinical after the New Year," Domingo said.

He said the application of China's C l o v e r Biopharmaceuticals is still pending as the FDA is "waiting for some documentation from the proponent for the completion of requirements."

China's Sinovac, he said, has requested some changes in their protocol or research design so it was returned to the reviewers for final clearance.

On Monday, Domingo ordered the FDA Regulatory Enforcement Unit to look into reports that certain individuals in the country have received shots of vaccines against Covid-19.

"We want to know the status of the vaccination and which vaccines were used. But of course, that will probably take a few days, so we can't give you updates yet," he said. (PNA)

World still not fully prepared to tackle outbreaks: WHO

GENEVA – A year after the coronavirus disease 2019 (Covid-19) became known worldwide, the World Health Organization (WHO) warned on Monday that the world could face an even bigger pandemic in the future and that it is not "fully" prepared to deal with the existing outbreak, let alone the next one.

Dr. Mike Ryan, executive director of WHO Health Emergencies, said the world is in a better place on behavioral science, vaccines, science, diagnostic science, and other areas.

However, Ryan warned the WHO's last press conference of the year, "we need to get ready for something that may even be more severe in the future."

He said the pandemic has been severe, spreading rapidly all over the world.

"This is not necessarily the big one.

Number of fireworks-related injuries drop by 71%: DOH

MANILA – The number of fireworks-related injuries has significantly dropped this year, with only 14 recorded over nine days, as of Tuesday.

From 6 a.m. on December 21 to 5:59 a.m. on December 29, the Department of Health (DOH) recorded 14 fireworks-related injuries, 71 percent lower than in the same period last year.

"This is 35 cases or 71 percent lower compared to 2019, and 85 cases or 86 percent lower versus the five-year average from 2015 to 2019, same time period," it said in its latest report.

The cases were recorded by 61 sentinel

This virus is very transmissible, and kills people, and deprives so many people of loved ones," Ryan said. "But its current case fatality is reasonably low in comparison to other emerging diseases. This is a wake-up call."

He spoke as countries began shutting their borders to the United Kingdom due to anxieties stemming from a new Covid-19 variant said to be more contagious.

Dr. Bruce Aylward, a senior WHO adviser, said, "This virus is telling us we are not prepared. We're now into second and third waves of this virus, and we're still not prepared to deal with and manage those."

"We're prepared for flu better than we were in the past. We're now better prepared for coronaviruses. But are we better prepared for the next pandemic?" Aylward said. "It would be folly to say that we're fully prepared." (Anadolu) hospitals.

Thirteen or 93 percent were injured due to fireworks and one or 7 percent was a stray bullet injury.

The injuries were recorded in Central Luzon, Bicol, Western and Central Visayas, Davao region, Soccsksargen, the National Capital Region, and Calabarzon.

Among the banned fireworks, the five-star caused the highest number of injuries with four cases, followed by boga, two; baby rocket, one; bong-bong, one; fountain, one; kwitis, one; piccolo, one; rebentador, one; and whistle bomb, one. (PNA)
